BRILLIANT JUNE WEDDING.

FAY-BRACKETT.

A pretty June wedding, befitting the month of roses, was witnessed by the elite of Arlington and surrounding towns on Wednesday evening, June 7th, in the First Parish Unitarian Church, in which the contracting parties were Alice Palmer Fay, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Wakeman Fay of 9 Appleton place, and James Frederick Brackett of Boston. Everything conspired to make brilliant the occasion. Even Nature refreshed herself and put on her choicest and most attractive colors through the gentle rain that came as a welcome guest to that happy nuptial hour.

The church was tastefully decorated with rarest bud and flower. The pulpit and altar, half hidden by a wealth of palms and hydrangeas, produced an exquisitely beautiful effect, such as might have tempted the goddess of love to have taken up her abode therein. The expectant audience awaited with eager watch the coming of the bridal party.

As the organist, Joshua Phippen of Winchester, rendered in an artistic way the first notes of "Lohengren," the bride made her entrance to the church, leaning upon the arm of her father, and marched down the aisle with graceful and stately step, while the groom awaited her arrival at the altar. The bride was richly gowned in white satin, with court train, trimmed heavily with lace, wearing a long tulle veil, carrying in her hand a bouquet of bride's roses. The Rev. Frederic W. Gill, pastor of the church, pleasantly performed the marriage ceremony, the groom endowing with the ring the fairest of the fair with not only his never-ending affection and love, but with all his earthly possessions as well. The father gave the bride away. The new-made husband and wife made their exit from the church to the enchanting strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. The ushers who so elegantly performed their duties were Walter Palmer Hoxie of Philadelphia, Howard Worthley of Lynn, Dr. Franklin W. White of Boston, and Mr. Edward A. Bailey of Arlington. The bride's maids, Miss Edith Neilson Fay, sister of the bride, and Miss Olive Edna Brackett, sister of the groom, were tastefully dressed in pink mousline deswaire, carrying bouquets of pink roses. The best man was John MacConnell, Jr., of Boston. The entire scene at the church was brilliant in every way, but most brilliant and charming of all was the young bride. The reception at the house, 9 Appleton place, was arranged with all the taste that comes from that culture which has in its keeping the graces of life. All through the private grounds were hanging Japanese lanterns, which, with their varied colored lights, gave to the immediate surroundings a fairly-like appearance. The interior of the home was radiant with light and beauty, and redolent with the fragrance of the first outburst of the summer time.

The reception room was decorated in satin ribbons, garlanded throughout every nook and corner, while the open space was banked with daisies. The library, where the presents were seen, was decorated in green and pink. There should be prominent mention made of those young ladies, friends of the bride, who so happily arranged these artistic decorations. The bride and groom responded most gracefully to the cordial congratulations extended them. Mr. and Mrs. Fay and Mrs. Brackett received with the bridal party. Mrs. Fay was gowned in black satin, jet trimmings, low neck and court train. Mrs. Brackett wore black silk and white satin, covered with jet trimmings, with slight train. The presents were many and elegant, consisting of silver and cut glass, elegant paintings, books and a variety of bric-a-brac. A silver tea service of unique design, and of much intrinsic value, was a gift of an uncle of the bride, Walter Palmer Hoxie of Philadelphia. To give special mention of all the presents would make a well-nigh endless column. It must be sufficient to say that they represent much taste and worth, and what is better than all, they indicate the high esteem and love in which Mr. and Mrs. Brackett are held.

The spread furnished on this occasion by the well known and deservedly popular caterer N. J. Hardy, was the most inviting both in its make-up and in its artistic arrangement. The many guests refreshed themselves surrounded by all that is most exquisite in the floral world.

As the newly married pair left for the happy land of their "honeymoon," they were showered with rice and old shoes, while the "God bless you" followed them out of sight and hearing. After their return Mr. and Mrs. Brackett are to spend the summer months in Winthrop.

The Enterprise unites with the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Brackett in wishing them in their married life, a continuous and unlimited prosperity. May each be to the other both complement and supplement.

The committee in charge of the Country Circus have been most fortunate in securing in connection with that enterprise the International Doll Show, owned by Miss E. H. Horton of Boston.

This exhibition, deemed valuable enough by the U. S. Government to carry as their exhibition to the Paris Exposition at its expense, also awarding a gold medal, consists of over 300 dolls from all parts of the world. Many of them were most difficult to obtain on account of native superstition, and consequently form the most valuable collection in the world.

DOLLS

It includes dolls made of wax, rags, corn husks, cork, peanuts, potatoes, acorns, sponges, pipes, etc., and came from Austria, America, Aleutian Islands, Bermuda, Bosnia, Cuba, China, and other European countries. Fiji Islands, Hertzevia, Indian molindres, Jerusalem, Kiowa, Peru, Zanzibar, and nearly every other country in the known world. This collection will be on exhibition from 3 to 9 p. m., beginning June 15th and ending June 24th, at Pleasant Hall, Maple street, Arlington. Admission 25 cents; children under 12, 15 cents.

Be sure and secure your tickets for the dolls' show on the grounds June 17th, as this will be the last exhibition of this collection this season. The flower booth will be under the charge of crippled children from the home, and will be peddled by flower girls around the grounds. Be sure to buy some of the pop corn from the Yellow Kid peddler; also patronize the peanuts Uncle Sam will have to sell. You will surely want some of those delicious pickled times the gay peddler will have for sale.

FUN! FUN!

Mr. Clown and all his little boy clowns will be at the Country Circus; so look out for fun.

The balloon and kite peddlers will be sure to tempt you with their wares.

Bring along your scissors and knives to be sharpened by the scissor grinder, who is an expert in the business.

The Vaudeville show will have two performances at 5 and 7. Admission 25 cents; children under 12, 10 cents. The children will be sure to be pleased by the ventriloquist and the trained dogs. The cake walk by local talent is sure to make a hit.

The dolls in the shooting gallery will surely beguile you into attempting to hit them.

You will always regret that you failed to see the Country Circus. So be sure and come.

RIGHT HERE IN ARLINGTON.

We occasionally meet a man right here in Arlington who regards it hardly less than base treachery for one to unfavorably criticize President McKinley's administration of Philippine affairs. It will always hold true that men and women will disagree upon each and all questions which involve both the individual and national life, and especially will all this be true in any warfare which is aggressive. It is a begging of the question to assert that this war with the Filipinos has been thrust upon us. As a matter of fact, the present strife with the above people was had in mind by certain Republican leaders even before the blowing up of the Maine. President McKinley, however, and to his honor, be it said, was not in this preconcerted plan, for at that time his cry was, "there must be no aggressive warfare." "We are not fighting for empire." The President, honest in his purpose, has been made a convert a good deal against his will to this war with the Filipinos. Why shouldn't this interminable war, so far as we can at present see, be discussed pro and con? Why should Senator Hoar and ex-Gov. Boutwell be called traitors to their country, and all because they do not believe in the right and justice of so needless a war. It will hardly do to brand Thomas W. Higginson a traitor because he signed that petition recently sent President McKinley insisting that this war with the Filipinos shall at once cease, and such a peace be secured as shall give to the Philippine Islands their rights. And Alice Freeman Palmer, another signer of the petition, believes in the stars and stripes as thoroughly as does the administration at Washington. It will be the wiser plan that the McKinleyites go slow in calling this one and that one a traitor who in emphasized terms, and without apology, declares that this aggressive warfare with the Filipinos is absolutely in contradiction to our Declaration of Independence. And where is it all to end? A few weeks ago we were right in sight of peace, while now a call for more men is likely to be made. The truth is, to use a vulgar phrase, we have not only "got our foot in it," but we have gotten our two feet in it, through this senseless fight with a people who don't know when they are whipped.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

The speakership of the next national House of Representatives is creating no little interest throughout the country, although at the present writing it seems pretty well determined that David Bremner Henderson of Dubuque, Iowa, will succeed Thomas Brackett Reed in the speaker's chair. Mr. Henderson is a Scotchman by birth. He came to this country when but a lad of 6 years. He was educated in the common schools of his adopted state, and subsequently graduated at the Upper Iowa University. As a lawyer he stands among the first of his profession.

In September, 1861, he enlisted as a private in company C, 12th regiment Iowa Infantry Volunteers, and was elected and commissioned first lieutenant of his company, serving until discharged owing to the loss of a leg. In May, 1863, Mr. Henderson was appointed commissioner of the board of enrollment of the third district of Iowa, serving as such until June, 1864, when he re-entered the army as colonel of the 46th regiment Iowa Infantry Volunteers, and served therein until the close of his term of service; he was collector of internal revenue for the third district of Iowa from November, 1863, until June, 1869, when he resumed the practice of the law. He was assistant United States district attorney for the northern division of his state for two years, resigning in 1871. Col. Henderson has been a prominent member of the House for sixteen consecutive years, and was re-elected to the 56th Congress as a Republican, receiving a handsome majority. Mr. Henderson has served on the most important committees in the House, and is now chairman of one of the leading committees. The Col. is a ready debater, and whenever he speaks he has an attentive and interested audience. A man who well understands the science of government, Col. Henderson has proved himself authority upon all national legislation. As a boy upon the farm, and as a student in the schools and in all the departments of life which he has subsequently represented, Col. Henderson has invariably stood a conspicuous figure in all leadership. Genial and easy of approach, he has made for himself an army of friends throughout the entire country.

Col. Henderson has all those qualities of good fellowship which brings him in touch with an average humanity. Of pre-eminent ability, yet with that abounding common sense which keeps him in closest touch with his constituency. In a word, the gallant colonel is a born democrat in the primary significance of that much abused term. Although born across the waters, he is, nevertheless, an American through and through. The National Republican party has shown its wisdom in the early selection of Col. David Bremner Henderson as the next speaker of the national House of Representatives. We say "early selection," for the western states already stand well nigh a unite for him, while the eastern states and the eastern press are a good deal enthusiastic over the colonel as the successor of Thomas Brackett Reed.

We hasten to address Col. David Bremner Henderson of Iowa at this early writing as "Mr. Speaker."

A DELIGHTFUL RIDE.

That is a delightful ride which one may take by the electric car from Arlington to Needham. It was on Sunday morning last that we started bright and early to take in this trip and all its varied accompaniments of which we are to briefly write.

Now, don't all you good people exclaim at once: "What a wicked thing for an editor of a reputable paper to do, to so desecrate God's Holy Sabbath day!" The fact of the matter is, there was no desecration about it, for all along that ride of twelve miles or more we were filled with the most devout gratitude that we could look upon such a variety of God's own country, and all for ten cents. And, beside, you must remember, that these are the first days of June.

"And what is so rare as a day in June?
Then, if ever, come perfect days;
Then Heaven tries the earth if it be in tune,
And over it softly her warm ear lays."

Our way took us alongside Mt. Auburn, that magnificent city of the dead—"God's Acre"—which has become so distinguished the world over as the resting place of the most illustrious of earth. And then the grounds so charmingly pictured by Nature's softest touches! As one gets a glimpse in passing by, of the winding, sloping walks, shaded by almost every variety of tree and shrub, one can well imagine how Bryant could write:

"By an unfaltering trust approach thy grave
Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

As on we go we make Watertown, Newtonville, Newton Highlands, Newton Upper Falls, Needham Highlands, and then Needham itself. The entire journey through, we looked upon field and pasture just as God made them, and they contrasted most favorably with the elegant residences and public buildings, and macadamized streets, all the works of man. We may do our best in an artistic way, and even then Nature is over all in all.

"Nature we love; and next to Nature, Art."

We reached Needham just as the Sunday school of the Unitarian Church was beginning its session, so without any sort of hesitancy we entered the church building where we had been accustomed to worship so many years ago. Although the building has been remodelled since those earlier days, yet there is much about it that is still familiar. There is the same old clock that pointed the hour forty years ago. And there is still remaining the old choir seats from which in the 50's we heard such a service of song on each recurring Sabbath, that we shall never forget. We can now hear, as in the olden time, that choir giving such full and inspiring expression to the stanzas, the last line of which is as follows:

"God is wisdom, God is love."

And that rich alto, who will ever forget that? Say what we may about our more modern church music, we have no little love for the church music as rendered in the days of auld lang syne. But of the Sunday school, which is the efficient right hand of the Unitarian church in Needham. For the past ten years, and perhaps more, this school has been and still is under the superintendency of a woman. Needham, in a practical way, believes in woman. She has had upon her board of education for the past twelve years a woman, who is fully abreast with all that is modern in the educational world.

During all our college course we taught winter terms of school in Needham, so that we came to know the town as one knows his home. It was altogether pleasant for us to meet on Sunday the few "who are left." As we dined with friends whom we first met in the winter of 1856-57, we exchanged many reminiscences of those primitive days. We must not forget to make prominent mention of the Rev. Mr. Thacher, the present pastor of the church of which we write. Mr. Thacher, a man of scholarly ability, was for some years a Methodist minister, but upon a fuller investigation of his theology became a Unitarian, happy in the thought that God will not fail to care for all his children. Mr. Thacher is recognized by his religious denomination as among the first of the clerical profession. But, why write all this? Some one may ask. How can your readers be especially interested in Needham, and your journey thereto? Our purpose in this editorial is to emphasize the fact that one may do God's service by getting out into the country of a Sunday, and renewing the acquaintances and friendships of however many years ago. The electric car is nothing less than a blessing sent of Heaven. By it we may readily put ourselves in touch with all that is refreshing and instructive in Nature. Don't be afraid, good Christian man, to now and then go on a Sunday into the open field and the generous wood near by, there to worship with those friends whom you love best. Remember that this beautiful world was made for us, so that we and we alone are at fault if we do not appropriate it all to ourselves. Sunday is none too good a day to take in God's magnificent creation.

A MAMMOTH BUSINESS.

It is well understood the world over that a mammoth business in the ship-building line is represented in Cramps' shipyard in Philadelphia, Pa. Through the kindness of David Currier, Jr., a New Hampshire boy, we recently visited the shipyard, and had a look at the numerous battleships in process of building. This enterprising firm have under construction more vessels at the present time than ever before. We saw the skeleton of the Russian cruiser, Variag. She is a type of all the Russian boats, ram bow and overhang stern. She is built for speed, being narrow and very long.

Just beyond is the Russian battleship, the Retzezan. She much resembles the cruiser, save that her hull is wider at midships. Then comes the battleship Maine, the successor of the "Maine" that was blown up in the harbor of Havana. Her keel was laid on the 15th of February, 1899, one year after the destruction of the old Maine. She will go into commission on the 15th of February, 1900, and will be launched on the 15th of February, 1901. So it will be seen that the old Maine has its suggestive anniversaries.

The new Maine will be a first-class battleship in every way. At one of the long wharves is the U. S. battleship Alabama, which is nearing completion. She differs in one respect from other ships of the navy, namely, her smokestacks, instead of being fore and aft, are placed athwart ships, or side by side. She has one fighting top, aft, and two turrets fore and aft, provided with two 13-inch guns. Her other armament is composed of 12 and 6-inch guns, 4-ton pounders. Her trial trip is put down for October next. Cramps' shipyard has turned out during the last winter four admirals, the Dewey, Sampson, Schley and Farragut, fruit steamers, and the "Mexico," belonging to the New York and Cuban Mail Steamship Co., which sailed on the 1st of June. Work has just begun on four merchant vessels for Spreckles, and bids are out for the new U. S. battleship Pennsylvania. The Cramps have now the largest electric crane in the world. It has a lifting power of 200 tons. This company has enough work on hand to keep its 6000 employees busy for the next two years. Bids for the construction of vessels are now being refused by the company. The Cramps represent an industry that has become the right arm of our magnificent navy. And what is more wonderful than all else, the elder Cramp began a poor boy, and worked himself into this immense industry; another illustration of "where there's a will there's a way." The young man, David Currier, Jr., of whom we have already spoken, with strong backing from several of our public men, has been fortunate enough to secure a position in the yard for the purpose of learning the business from bottom to top. Mr. Currier went directly from Brown University to the yard, put on his overalls without a question, and went to work with the determination of knowing how a battleship is constructed. Not yet a year in the yard, yet Mr. Currier has received three promotions, so that it may be safely predicted that he will come out at the top. Success awaits him who is willing to begin at the bottom, and, through persistent effort, rise step by step until he reaches the top round of the ladder. Mr. Currier is bound to do all this.

A SENSIBLE INQUIRY.

That is altogether a sensible inquiry which seeks to learn why the ladder truck should be kept at the Centre and the chemical fire apparatus have its headquarters at or near the Heights? One need not pursue his mathematical studies to any great extent to learn that the heavier fire apparatus should be kept near the Heights, when the long, up-grade from the Centre would be avoided when called out to a fire on the Heights, and where the apparatus would have a down grade were it called to a fire this side of the Heights. There should be no delay in arranging for the permanent keeping of the chemical truck here at the Centre, with headquarters for the ladder truck near the Heights. Just invert the present order of things, then all will be right, and besides time will be saved, and property better secured from the devouring element. This inquiry, which is made the heading of this paragraph, is a general one throughout Arlington.

It is not only Gov. Theodore Roosevelt, but it is Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, A. M., L. L. B. and L. L. D., as well. Now, give us President Roosevelt, if you please.

Jeffries is the winner, so that now "the land of the free and the home of the brave" holds the championship for "knockouts."

ODDS AND ENDS.

We are fairly launched upon the month of nuptials.

The Presbyterian General Assembly, at Minneapolis, May 26, decided that the nineteenth century closes with the year 1900. That settles it; so ask no more questions, troublesome boy.

"Total number of deaths in the army since the Spanish war began 6,209." Adj. Gen. Corbin.

The difference between McKinley and Roosevelt is fundamental. Both have their ear to the ground, but the former hears only the mutterings of cheap politicians, while the latter hears the throbbing of the public heart. The latter statement has been most convincingly demonstrated lately in Roosevelt's dealings with the so-called Ford bill. He rose with and upon the tide of public opinion. He feared the wrath of the people more than the wrath of the Platt machine and he courageously and wisely repudiated the latter. Arrayed against that modified (to tax franchises just like other salable property) bill were the state Republican machine, every railway (both street and elevated), gas, water supply, telegraph and telephone company in the state, all redolent with bribery, corruption, and political "pulls." Arrayed on its side were justice and the vast majority of taxpayers and citizens. Roosevelt with the instinct, independence, indomitable courage and high moral sense of a Grover Cleveland chose the "path of least resistance" and planted his flag having on it the inscription, "Tax franchises the same as other property is taxed." The political henchmen, and party hacks dare not tear down that flag. Platt now with much difficulty (Vox haesit fauci) professes to admire the bill. Thus did Cleveland make the great democratic party bow to tariff reform.

In my last communication I expressed quite strongly my astonishment at the marked apathy of the church in America toward the Peace or Disarmament Congress now struggling with a question of the most momentous interest to mankind of any that ever engaged the mind of man. The spirit of militarism seems not only to have worked like the "little heaven" among the masses, but, what is most astonishing, it has invaded the pulpit and the most intemperate utterances that have come to my attention have emanated from that source. I am going to give a tabulation of the armed men of the principal civilized nations of the earth according to the latest statistics at hand, and I invite all clerical devotees of militarism to post this list in front of their pulpits when they sound the bugle of war:

Germany,	600,000
France,	770,000
Italy,	275,000
Austria-Hungary,	400,000
Russia,	1,220,000
Great Britain,	150,000
Turkey,	190,000
United States,	100,000
Japan,	90,000
Total,	3,805,000

Now if it costs $1000 a year to maintain each soldier, including all expenses of horses, guns, ammunition, etc., the total annual expense of keeping up this immense force is $3,805,000,000. Is it any wonder that the masses in continental Europe are poor and degraded and in no condition to receive or to understand religious teachings? In some parts of our globe days of fasting and prayer are at the present time set apart that rain may fall and terminate the drought. But nowhere in all Christendom have I heard of any attempt by the governors, rulers, or clergy to set apart days of fasting and prayer that the conference at The Hague may result in substantial progress towards the Scriptural period "when nations shall learn war no more."

"WHATEVER IS, IS RIGHT;" "MIGHT MAKES RIGHT." This is the devil's own creed. It was the former sentiment that he first whispered in the ear of Eve in the garden of Eden. It was the latter sentiment that he whispered in the ear of Cain, and has continued to whisper in the ears of all the sons of Adam and is to day instilling into the minds of mankind with apparently greater success than ever before. Sentiments like these have replaced the doctrines of peace in many a pulpit. Sentiments like these give character to bondage and slavery. Sentiments like these tend to make respectable tyranny, militarism, war, robbery, rapine, prize-fighting and a whole category of crimes.

"One murder makes a villain; Millions a hero."

"One to destroy is murder by the law;
To murder thousands takes a specious name, War's glorious art, and gives immortal fame."

"Is death more cruel from a private dagger Than in the field, from murdering swords of thousands?
Or does the number slain make slaughter glorious?"

"Tis said that
"War is honorable
In those who do their native rights maintain."

Do the McKinleyized clergy subscribe to the above sentiment?

To the immaculate clergy who seek to sanctify "War for Humanity."
"I own my natural weakness; I have not yet learned to think of indiscriminate murder without some sense of shuddering; and the sight of blood which spouts through hoary scalps is not To me a thing of triumph, nor the death of men surprised "a glory."

splitting fun, and more than all this, the object is a worthy one, and calls for your aid.

We met Harry G. Waters of the Boston Traveler on Wednesday just as he was coming out of the Robbins Library. Mr. Waters was a good deal enthusiastic in finding such a convenient and costly a building in one of the suburbs of Boston devoted to the reading public.

The Rev. Mr. Bushnell is still in Baltimore, and though improving, is not likely to return this week. Not only his own people, but all Arlington as well, will be glad to see Mr. Bushnell home again. We have missed his cheerful greetings, on our way to and from our office. Mr. Bushnell is genial and cordial in all his social life, and thereby has he made an army of friends.

The kindergarten school on Maple street, under the management of the Misses Wellington, will close for its summer vacation on Friday afternoon June 16. This interesting school has had an unusually prosperous year, so that teachers and pupils well deserve the summer months for recreation and leisure. A pleasant hour will be given the children on the closing afternoon by way of ice cream, lemonade and cake.

The Rev. Dr. Watson preached an interesting and instructive sermon last Sunday morning to his church people on "the doctrine of money." The weekly envelope system of offerings has been in vogue for the past year at the Baptist church, and much success in the raising of revenues has been the result. Dr. Watson in his Sunday morning sermon, impressed upon his hearers, that giving should be in just and mathematical proportion to one's income. That is, our church offerings should be based upon the law of proportion, and so came his subject "the doctrine of money."

Mr. William Whytal, who left for an extended western trip a month ago, is now in San Francisco. He has had a delightful time thus far, stopping at several prominent places on the way. He made a stay of several days in Salt Lake City, visited Sacramento and from that point went to San Francisco, where he is at present. He goes up the coast to Oregon, where he will delay for a short time. Mr. Whytal will not return home until the early autumn.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Hornblower, finding a very pleasant home last summer at the Summit House, South Briston, Me., owned and kept by Nelson Gamage & Son, located at Heloise Point, will leave on the 15th to spend another season at that place. Mr. Hornblower has for sale a story and a half, eight room house, located at Heloise Point, near some of the prettiest cottages there, with a delightful sea view, which must be seen to be appreciated. For further particulars see him.

We caught a glimpse the other evening of the Rev. Dr. Watson, pastor of the Baptist Church, heartily enjoying a game of ball with the children. We take note of this fact, not that it is so unusual that the clergy should be interested in the manly sport coming from a game of ball, but that the minister in this instance, the Rev. Dr. Watson, was evidently interested in the children, and the children in him. It was a healthful indication to us that the boys and girls to whom we allude felt so much at home in the presence of the Doctor of Divinity and so enthusiastically enjoyed his play with them. The pulpit cannot well fail of doing its best work so long as it keeps itself in touch with the young folks.

It certainly looks suspicious, to say the least, that beer wagons from the city run to and through Arlington two or three times each week. This fact is more than suspicious; for it demonstrates what must be true, namely, that beer is purchased here in Arlington by the quantity for the purpose of dealing it out by the glass. Let this raiding business inaugurated by the police force be so thoroughly and so impartially continued that no guilty man shall escape. "No license" means no selling intoxicating liquors in any form, neither by saloonist nor by the management of public houses which have in their construction a style that is more modern, and which involves a greater expense in its erection.

Cards are out announcing the coming marriage of Miss Gertrude A. Frost, daughter of Mr. Sylvester Frost, of Belmont, to Mr. George E. Tobey, of West Stockbridge, Mass. Supt. for Mr. H. L. Frost, our popular florist.

Miss Marjorie Cutting, at her pleasant home on Marion st., entertained her little friends on Thursday, the seventh anniversary of her birthday. The following were present: Evelyn Towne, Gertrude Towne, Edith Munch, Ruth Prescott, Dorothy Bullard, Marion Bullard, Winslow Bailey, and Laura Munch. Games were played, and a good time had in every way.

Thank you Rev. Mr. Yeames for leaving your umbrella at home on Wednesday afternoon. We met the Rev. gentleman just as he was taking the train for Boston on the above afternoon, and he said to us as he was stepping aboard, "I have left my umbrella at home to invite the rain;" and sure enough the rain came. Thank you again.

The following officers of Division 43, A. O. H. were elected on Tuesday evening, President, I. J. Colbert; Vice President, Dennis Sweeney; Treasurer, J. D. Kearney; Recording secretary, D. M. Daley; Financial secretary, Charles Barry; Sentinel, W. J. Doherty; Sergeant-at-arms, Charles Daley; Financial committee, M. E. Callahan, J. J. Robinson, J. F. Connelly; standing Committee, I. J. Colbert, D. Dineen, W. H. Bradley; Sick committee, J. P. Dacey, R. H. Falls, J. H. Gibbons, Charles Daley, W. H. Bradley, Daley P. Reardon, and W. T. Canniff.

The Rev. Mr. Yeames rector of St. John's, attended on Wednesday evening the ninth annual festival of the Choir Guild in Emmanuel Church, Boston. The following choirs took part: Emmanuel, Boston. St. James's Cambridge. Grace, Lawrence. Our Saviour, Longwood. St. John's, Lowell. Holy Trinity, Marlborough, and St. James, Roxbury. The number of choirs connected with the guild, is 30, and the number of choristers, about 1000.

Mr. Warren A. Pierce celebrated on Monday evening the 50th anniversary of his birthday at his home on Academy street. The family friends who were present helped to make the occasion a joyous one. Mr. Pierce although he has reached the half century mark is yet in the very prime of his life. More keenly alive to business than ever before, he is up and at it all the while. When we consider that Mr. Pierce was one of our boys in the old High Street Grammar school, we can not easily escape the fact that the years are piling up. The many friends of Mr. Pierce wish him the pleasure of celebrating many another anniversary birthday.

Mr. Charles Gott, the carriage manufacturer, represents one of the leading industries of Arlington. Starting his business on Mass. avenue in 1873, he has seen through his push and pluck, his patronage extending from Boston as a center, throughout all the surrounding towns. Carriages of all sorts and description are made in his shop. In a run about and through his place of business the other day we saw carriages all ready for parties in Boston, Somerville, Cambridge, Melrose and various other localities. His farm wagons are of the most convenient and durable kind. Mr. Gott has every facility for doing his iron and wood work by machinery. A suitable and trim looking wagon for the sewer department of Arlington he has nearly completed. Mr. Gott and his help are kept constantly busy by the many orders coming in. See Mr. Gott's advertisement in this issue.

At a meeting of the Arlington Whist and Cycle Club on Wednesday evening officials were appointed for the road race on the 17th of June. Up to date there have been ten entries made. The prizes are the following:

1st prize, Orient bicycle, presented by A. W. & C. C. value $50.00

2d prize, pair Hartford 80 tires, presented by J. J. Mosley, value $10.00

3d prize, box cigars, presented by A. A. Tilden, value $10.00

4th prize, bicycle suit, presented by A. W. & C. C. value $5.00

1st time prize, gold medal, value $12.00, by the club.

2d time prize, fancy cake, value $10.00, by N. J. Hardy.

It is to be hoped that the temperance and law abiding people of Arlington will give such moral support to our police force in the successful raids they are making upon all public houses and saloons suspected of selling intoxicating liquors, that they will be greatly encouraged and aided thereby. Chief Harriman and his associates upon the force deserve unstinted commendation for the good work they have already accomplished. Now let this good work go on, until the people of Arlington shall be satisfied that not a drop of that which intoxicates is sold in this town.

If there is any public house or saloon in Arlington which lives without any visible means of support, then it may be strongly suspected that intoxicating drinks are sold "on the sly" in such hotel or saloon, and furthermore such hotel or saloon should be made the subject of the closest investigation. Arlington has voted "no license," so that no apology is to be made by the proprietors in their hunt for concealed liquors. Let the search being now made by the Arlington police force be thorough and far reaching; it doesn't matter what disturbances may be created thereby. This whiskey selling traffic is an accursed business in whatever way you view it.

Our gardeners and farmers are most earnestly praying for rain. The hay crop is already a failure, while other crops are greatly suffering from the long continued drought.

A telegram received by Mrs. Bushnell on Friday announces the arrival home of the Rev. Mr. Bushnell, this (Saturday) morning. He will not, however, preach to-morrow, Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Gutterson will supply his pulpit.

Miss Sheila Foster and her brother Newton Foster, will spend the most of their summer vacation with friends at Weld. They leave for the Pine Tree state on the 17th.

BOAT CLUB NOTES.

Arrangements have been made for swimming races, diving races, a tug of war in the water, and probably a tub race.

Joe is painting the lockers and putting them in a shape, in fact, the boat house never looked cleaner and tidier than under his care.

The club nine won the game from the Melrose club last Saturday. It was decidedly one-sided, the game standing 12 to 7. The Wood boys were the stars of the game and Rankin and Loyd did most excellent work. Messrs. Cushman and Payne of the Melrose nine did some fine playing. The score:

Geo. B. C. Rugg, director of rowing, announces that the annual regatta of the club will be held June 17th, at 10 o'clock. Not for many years has there been so great an interest in rowing and the director promises non-rowing members a lot of sport. A dozen men are in training for the races and as there are several questions still unsettled, as to individual ability, the prospects are very favorable for a number of very close races. The regatta will be made up of the following events: single shell, the winner gaining the first leg on the charter cup; single working boat for novices and double working boat, free for all. On account of the number of members who have signified their intention of competing, the single races and possibly the double, will be rowed in heats, thus insuring the spectators at least half a dozen races.

The following are the scores for the week:

The 81st anniversary of the Baptist Church will be observed on Sunday afternoon, June 18th. Both teachers and pupils are busy in making preparations for this festive occasion, when, aside from the singing by the children, Mrs. Smith will sing by request, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth." A trio of ladies, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Coleman and Mrs. Hornblower will sing, "Lift Thine Eyes," from Elijah. A double quartette will render two anthems. It is expected that this anniversary approaching the century mark will be of interest both to the young people and the older grown.

Joseph Quigley, who for so long a while did double duty in Mr. Adams' store as a clerk in the store and in the post office, is still compelled to continue his vacation, seeking that rest which will, it is hoped, soon restore him to his usual health. Mr. Quigley is slowly improving. He must not again attempt to do two men's work.

Miss Edith Sargent, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. P. Sargent, is to be married some time during the present month to a young man from Michigan.
Also a niece of Mr. Sargent is to be married at an early date to Mr. John Freeman of Belmont.

responded to an alarm of fire in Water-on Friday of last week. The high

Her Evening Gown.

It is undeniable that foreign diplomats in Washington frequently find themselves at a loss owing to the novelty presented to them by American customs. Even the language offers difficulties.

Only the other day the Guatemalan minister was speaking to some Washington ladies of what he regarded as a remarkable social experience met with here at the capital. He had been invited to an afternoon reception.

"And do you know," he said, "the hostess received the guests in a nightgown!"

"Good heavens!" replied the ladies to whom this information was addressed. "Surely you are joking, Mr.
Minister!"

"Not at all, I assure you," reiterated the diplomat. "It was in her nightdress that we were received—low neck and bare arms!"

"Oh, you mean evening dresses, do you not, Mr. Minister?" suggested one of the ladies.

"Yes, that is what I mean," admitted Senor Arriaga; "low neck and bare arms, just like the costume for the opera or ball."

As may be imagined, the laugh was at the minister's expense. In Wash-ton ladies quite commonly wear evening dress when giving afternoon receptions.—Boston Herald.

Feudalism in Hungary.

Inconceivable as the anachronism may seem to the western mind, the agrarian system of Hungary has not yet issued from the feudal form. The Hungarian farmer of today is virtually a serf, bound to his master, the hereditary owner of the soil which the peasant tills, by the tangible tie of personal liability. The Hungarian feudal lord of today is entitled to 50 days' labor from each male adult who dwells on his land.
The seignior is at liberty to demand this feudal contribution at whatever time may seem best to him, with the frequent result that the tenant farmer is employed in gathering his master's harvests while his own crops are rotting after a rainfall or are being consumed by an early frost or suffer damage from one or more of the many possible causes which render destructive the slightest delay on the part of the harvester in gathering the fruits of a year's labor.—S. Ivan Todoroff in Arena.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS.

Hose No. 1 made the run on Tuesday from Park avenue to Walter B. Farmer's residence, on Appleton street, in just three minutes. The "boys" are out nearly every day for practice.

The Rev. Dr. Stembbridge and family are now well settled in their new and pleasant home on Claremont avenue, and, what everybody well knows, the latch-string to their home always hangs outward. The Rev. Dr. and his family always receive their friends most cordially and informally. The fact is, the Dr. has no "cloth" about him. He meets the world as it is, instead of hiding himself behind his profession. The Rev. Dr. is a man wherever and whenever you meet him.

The crowds are beginning to flock to this point on a Sunday. An extra police force will soon be had for the Heights, so that the residents here will be assured of order and quiet on each recurring Sabbath throughout the summer. Chief of Police Harriman will leave no stone unturned that order shall prevail throughout Arlington on each day of the week, and especially on the Sabbath day.

They are "killing two birds with one ton. Mr. Jernegan is expected to return from his western business trip next

The Sunshine Club had a souvenir whist party at the home of Mrs. John T.
White, on Wednesday afternoon. Each member of the club received a prize; those leading in the game had the first choice of prizes.

week the Sunshine Club is to meet with Mrs. Nathan Carver, 23 Maynard street, Roxbury. The club will take the one o'clock, p. m., electric car for the place of meeting.

ell court.

Herald League.

In our report last week of the burning of Russell W. Barr's barn at the heights we said among other things that "the chemical engine was called out, but failed to quench the flames." Since then we have learned that it is not the work of a chemical engine to subdue the fire of a house all aflame. Its only purpose is to put out a fire in the interior of a house just as it begins its destructive work, and to protect and save buildings adjoining the one on fire. The Arlington chemical engine did save Mr. Barr's house, and this was all that it set out to do. Mr. Barr is under obligations to the chemical engine that he is not to day houseless.

Mr. Disston of Crescent Hill avenue has sold the house he has just completed to a Mr. Whittier of Somerville.

Mr. George Reed has been compelled to kill his old, faithful Billy, the horse that has served him so many years.
Billy had been afflicted for a long while with spasms.

Mr. Styles and his little boy Ralph have gone on a visit to his old home in Nova Scotia.

The two little Misses Francis and Ruth Hall were the bridesmaids on Tuesday at the marriage of a friend of the family in Jamaica Plain. They with two others held the daisy chain.

A Mrs. Rue, who was riding at furious speed her wheel on Sunday, ran into a young man from Cambridgeport, as he was stepping from the electric car in front of Dame's drug store. The young man came off with a badly bruised elbow.

Bridget Goeghegan, in stepping on Saturday evening from the 8.20 steam train at Arlington Heights station, was thrown, and thereby broke her collarbone. Dr. Sanford was called, who, after making the unfortunate woman comfortable, sent her to the Massachusetts Hospital.

Ground is being brokeu for a two apartment house on Hillside avenue next to Mrs. McBride.

The Sabbath school connected with the Park Avenue Congregational Church has just received a bequest of $50 from the estate of Mrs. Betsey Easton. It will be expended in the purchase of new books for the library.

Mr. W. B. Farmer is again dropping his hook in the waters of Rangeley Lake, Me. Mrs. Farmer accompanied her husband.

Arlington Locals.

The old Eureka arrived from the repair shop in Boston on Friday afternoon, as good as new.

Last evening the boys went out for a squirrel, taking water from the pond back of Fowle's mill. Taking in consideration the new packing, etc., the test was considered good, 185 feet of water being thrown. Many improvements are noticeable, the greatest being the lengthening out of brakes and making same in one piece. By this means the men at work have every advantage to throw a better stream. We can now look for great results at musters, for Eureka has one of the best body of men to man the brakes in the state. On the 17th she will be given an official test for the engineers who have overhauled her.
The engine will be kept in Storer's barn, on Central st.

Officer Cody is out again after his severe sickness and is receiving congratu-tion at their store this week which will be worthy the housekeepers' attention.

There is no one in Arlington we are on Wednesday evening. The drought has been long continued and discouragfarmers.

A New Hampshire editor has drawn up some new game laws which he wants adopted. The following is a summary;
"book agents may be killed from Oct.
1st to September 1st; spring poets, from March 1 to June 1; scandal mongers, from Apr. 1 to Feb. 1; umbrella borrowers, from Aug. 1 to Nov. 1, and Feb.
1 to May 1; while every man who accepts a newspaper for two years, and on being presented with his bill, says: 'I never ordered it,' may be killed on the spot, without reserve or relief."

In the death of Ex-Mayor F. O.
Prince, Boston loses one of her most distinguished men. Mr. Prince has led an intensely active life. As a public official he has always shown himself competent and faithful. His long life of 84 years will ever remain a monument to his memory.

JOB PRINTING

AT THIS OFFICE

IT IS A LIE.

It is a lie from start to finish to affirm that character is in any large way essential to political preferment, and the Mazet committee are fast finding this out in New York city. For instance, the first secretary of the school board of the Borough of Queens, a reputable man, liberally educated, and one who had had a long and successful experience in the schools as an educator, had to step down and out because he had no goods he could deliver to the political bosses.
He was followed by one of Richard Croker's men, whom by way of introducing him to our readers we quote from the New York World of recent date: "Joseph Fitzpatrick, secretary of the school board of Queens Borough, and former private secretary to Richard Croker, is not receiving callers at his Flushing home today. He is busy applying cooling lotions to a pair of black eyes, and nursing various and several interesting bruises on different parts of his anatomy. Mr. Fitzpatrick, in a highly elated condition, pursued former School Commissioner Merrill in and out of Tony Miller's saloon, calling him names and spitting on him. Then he fell foul of young McMahon." "Are you a friend of that lobster?" he cried, and spat at the valorous John. Friends picked up his remains and placed them on board a Flushing train. He has not yet succeeded in remembering what happened after McMahon broke loose.
But his eyes and aching bones tell a tale more eloquent than words." This is the kind of a man they have for secretary of the Queens Borough school board, and, so far as we are informed, no one of the board objects to his official continuance. And why?—Simply because Richard Croker is at the head of the school system in the city of New York. The school superintendent of Queens borough and the school superintendent of every other borough in the great city of New York must do willing and ready obedience to Boss Croker, all uneducated and unprincipled as he is. What a ridiculous and wicked farce to tell the school children that they must be truthful and honest and so on to the end of the chapter, when these same children see school superintendents and teachers hobnobbing with school officials who are utterly devoid of what is termed character. It is an outrage upon all decency that we cannot have our public schools under the management of an official board, every one of whom shall have proved themselves reputable citizens.

Will some good McKinley man explain just why the President has so absolutely and unqualifiedly gone back on civil service reform?

The St. Joseph (Mo.) News has the following to say of "the sweet girl graduates" of its locality:

The sweet girl graduates at Atchison talked about the Kansas steer, Kansas corn, Kansas people and Kansas things.
The Topeka girl talked about "The Last of the Tudors," "Ships That Pass in the Night," "Silent Forces,"
"Whither Goest Thou?" "The Great Art of Life" and "Achilles' Heel." They may teach "higher ideals" at Topeka, but Atchison is ahead on common sense.

The Kansas City Star of recent date publishes a paragraph of that wonderful Centralia schoolboy, and here is what it says:

During the last term a Centralia schoolboy, Lewis Tomlinson, aged 16 years, was never tardy and never missed a day. His home is seven miles from the schoolhouse, and coming and going he travelled fourteen miles each day, which during the school term makes 2,300 miles travelled. During the winter he arose at 3.30 every morning, fed the stock and performed the chores, then started for school. He made a grade of 100 in deportment, which means perfect, and a grade of 98 in application.

The above paragraph reads well, and yet do not hesitate to declare that the schoolboy to whom reference is made is essentially lacking in what is termed common sense.

Arlington's drinking fountains along the roadside for man and beast, are a blessing which everybody appreciates these excessively hot days. It does us a real good to see the thirsty horse plunge his mouth and nose deep into the cooling waters and drink its fill.
And it does us even more good to see the school children help themselves to this healthful beverage; and besides we delight to sample these fountains. Much has been written in song and in story of the clear, sparkling water.

"How does the water Come down at Lodore?"

"The conscious water saw its God and blushed." And then how much sacred verse has to say of water and the waters:
"As the hart panteth after the water-brooks." "He leadeth me beside the still waters." "As cold waters to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country." "Cast thy bread upon the waters; for thou shalt find it after many days." And so on. How fortunate it is that our State streets and Wall streets cannot put up a "corner" on water, air and sunshine! God has made a free distribution of that which is most essential to life. We are glad that Arlington offers to the thirsty one water in unstinted measure.
